

Me and Vishnu worked on the user journey testing together. We decided that we wanted the journey to start with a high school student (senior) who is planning to do college after graduation. I learned from user testing that we can identify what goals that a user might want to reach while starting their tour at Davis. A change I would make is adding a frame where the student is thinking about how he can learn more about Davis.

